

Centennial “My Tools” Collection

Company: Niigata Industrial Creation Organization (NICO)

Designer: Takashi Ashitomi
SAAT Design Inc

To revitalise a new generation of Japanese beauty, Niigata Industrial Creation Organization (NICO) pooled together industries and craftsmen to create the Centennial “My Tools” Collection in 2005.

The Collection has its own black and white identity and the small-scale production embraces rich imagination, wisdom in harmony with industrial technologies, and outstanding craftsman values. There are in total seven items in the collection: Paper Made Paper Knife, Nail Nipper, ECHIGO SAKUHIRO (Damask steel knife), Slit Grip Screwdriver, A Knife that Grows with You (Japanese-style knife), ORIGINAL IKEBANA SHEARS, and Grooming KIT (Wing 2005).

The set of everlasting tools celebrates human creativity and superior handicraft from Niigata, a Japanese city that has a rich history in manufacturing excellent everyday tools.
